

FLAG COMPETITION

Children can compete as two or more groups in this game. It is recommended that each group must include at least three children. Each group has one flag and a group leader. Group leaders give numbers to the members of the group. When somebody whistles, the first children in the groups start to run handing group flag. While they complete their racecourses, the second children in the groups wait as ready to run in the starting point. The second children wait until the first ones come to the starting point. Then, they take the group flag from the first children and start to run. The group finishes racecourses of to all members is the winner.
